

Agricultural Recruitment Specialists – Built on Integrity. Proven by Results.

Agricultural Recruitment Specialists is a family-run business built on genuine sector passion, straight-talking values and a deep commitment to the industry we serve. We don't just recruit — we actively give back. From supporting students entering the sector, to helping charities with CV guidance and assisting people back into employment, helping others succeed is at the heart of everything we do.

We operate with honesty, openness and a straightforward approach — because long-term relationships matter more than short-term wins.

Are you tired of recruitment agencies that promise the world but fail to understand your industry?
Do you need professionals who can genuinely add value — not just fill a vacancy?
Are you looking for a recruitment partner who delivers, not excuses?

Since 2012, we've specialised in agricultural, land-based and environmental engineering recruitment. We understand machinery, precision farming, agri-tech, crop and livestock systems, sustainable land use technologies — and the skills required to keep your business moving forward.

And we don't just talk about results — we measure them:

- 85%+ of our business is repeat business — because clients trust us and come back.
- 90% fill rate, compared to an industry average of around 30%.
- 100% success rate on dedicated headhunting assignments since inception.

That doesn't happen by chance.

It comes from asking the right questions, understanding your business properly, leveraging a deep sector network, and focusing on long-term fit rather than quick placements.

Whether you require permanent hires or executive appointments, we provide tailored recruitment solutions designed to strengthen your team and support sustainable growth.

For candidates, we open doors to meaningful careers.

For employers, we help build high-performing teams that last.

If you're serious about working with a recruitment partner who understands your industry, operates with integrity, and consistently delivers — let's talk.
